Pet-A-Pet Program - Next Visit June 20th

While it may be difficult to quantify the benefits of dog therapy with hard scientific, empirical fact, the magical interaction possible between animal and human can be unmistakable. Tears dry, frowns transform to smiles, inactive hands caress soft fur, silence becomes a conversation of coos whispered in a dog’s ear. Dogs offer themselves to patients with joy, unconditional love, great affection, and boundless patience. Perhaps this is because they offer themselves in a non-threatening, wordless way that speaks love and attention.
